ICOMMUNICATED.

Mount Vernon Avenue. A broad highway from the national Capital, leading by Alexandria to Mt. Vernon, ought to be constructed, as has been suggested, and might be constructed if everybody most interested in such an enterprise was willing and ready to come promptly forward and assist in making it an accomplished fact. Generally, when landbolders are approached by corporate bodies for concessions to assist them in carrying out movements having for their object the promotion of public conveniences and comforts they are apt to demand exorbitant prices, even when they feel certain that the contemplated movement would very much en-bance the value of their properties, and we suppose owners of land through which this highway or avenue is proposed to pass would be no exception to the established rule. A few years ago the farmers below and adjacent to Alexandria were clamorous for a railroad between that place and Mt. Vernon. They were ready, so they represented, to offer almost any concessions. The right of way was to be given freely, and a large amount of grading would be given gratuitously. Only give them a road that they might have quick transit to the neighboring cities. They had dragged slowly over bad wagon roads so long. Time was money to them. They wanted more settlers to buy their surplus acres and help on with their neighborhood's work of general improvement. Well, railroad men came forward and considered their propositions. Several routes were surveiled and one of them, a very practical one, of easy grading, was decided upon. But, all at once, thinking there was a chance to get the cake and pen ny both, and forgetting their traveling dis omforts and inconveniences as well as their clamors for and their promises of assistance and hearty cooperation, they demanded fabulous prices for the few acres needed for the way in consideration of foolishly trumped up inconveniences likely to result from the cutting of fields, and so the rail road was not built and they found them selves left high and dry; and ever since they have been grieving over their penny wise and pound foolish policy. They were not so fortunate even as the man in the fable who killed the goose. He got one golden egg. They got nothing but regrets. It may be by this time, let us hope so at least, that this people have had sufficient opportunities to repent of their folly and to learn enough of wisdom to be ready when another proposition is made to help them, to co-ope rate promptly and carnestly with their neighbors. The building of this highway, we reliterate, is a great public necessity. It ought to have been built years ago. Every visitor to Washington would like to go to Mount Vernon, but every one of them does not want to be completely to make the journey by boat. A ride rate promptly and carnestly with their helpthere by easy carriage over a smooth turn pike from the Capital in delightful weather would be indulged in by thousands. The road would be a favorite thoroughfare for persons in carriages, on 'cycles and on horseback. It would open up and develop the agricultural resources of many hundreds of acres of land now comparatively worth-less. It would make convenient and desirable many situations for new homes, and in a few years suburban residences would be found all along its roadway. That it would be a paying investment to steckholders if properly constructed and thereafter kept in perfect repair there can be no doubt. From Alexandria to Mt. Vergen the distress would be about eight non the distance would be about eight miles, and by one of the several routes which have been looked over and which would give a near view of the Potomac al-The good qualities of the above machines are now well established.

We are selling them at as low a price as they can be purchased in any of the larger cities, and are prepared to allow as much for old machines of any kind as is possible.

The Morning Dress.

It is said that a lady's standing in society can easily be determined by her dress at the breakfast-table; an expensive, showy costume indicating that the wearer has not yet learned the proprieties. But no one need be afraid of being called "shoddy" if her leveliness is as apparent by daylight as leveliness is as apparent by daylight as The Morning Dress. her loveliness is as apparent by daylight as at the hops. The capital stock of this company is $625,000, divided into 625,000 shares of $1 each.

The company is incorporated under the laws of West Virginia, and the stock is non-assessable, and carries with it no personal liability to the holder.

THE GOLD MINING COMPANY (location, Music Mountains, A. T.,) is as sound a mining enterprise as was ever placed on the market, and its possibilities have never been exceeded. Every share should double in value within a year, and they may quadruple, as they are based on property that would ordinarily have been capitalized ten (10) times as great on account of its known richness and promise.

The shares are made small so that any one can invest. Subscriptions for five shares are as welcome as those for hundreds.

Every dollar of earnings will go to the stockholders in dividends, as there is nothing else that they can be used for.

A Wisewell mill, capacity 20 tons per day, with powerful machinery, has been purchased and will be on the ground ready for erection at the mine within the next thirty days.

The solid basis upon which the company is founded and the practical proofs of the richness of the mine have already secured the confidence of the public, and the stock has steadily advanced in selling value. Within the last few days bona fide sales have been made AT PAR.

There is no better stock on the market for a permanent investment. For full information in regard to this Mine apply to the
